Egypt's Leader Softens

Pakistan's Foreign Minister Says Nasser Wants to Run Canal, Would Take Advice

LONDON (AP)—Pakistan's foreign minister said today President Nasser of Egypt told him he would agree to maritime nations advising on Suez Canal operations but insisted "it is the sovereign right of Egypt to run the canal."

Foreign Minister Hamidul Haq Chowdhry, arriving for the Suez Canal conference from talks with Nasser, said the Egyptian president is ready to enter into a covenant with all nations who signed the 1888 conventions guaranteeing freedom of navigation in the canal.

Chowdhry told reporters at the airport: "The Egyptian president wants a peaceful and happy solution to the problem."

"He is not adverse to the setting up of a body representing the users of the canal to advise the organization which he has set up to manage and administer it. He still believes it is the sovereign right of Egypt to run the canal."

A few hours earlier, Secretary of State Dulles arrived for the conference opening tomorrow. He expressed hope for a solution "so vital to the preservation and well-being of the entire world."

Britain, France and the United States are insisting on internationalizing the vital 103-mile waterway under guarantees more binding than the system envisaged by Nasser.

On the eve of the conference, tempers obviously were cooling, differences, although still great, were not so threatening as a week ago.

The Pakistan statement dovetailed with a plan reportedly brought to the conference by V.K. Krishna Menon of India to bridge the gap between Egypt and the Western Powers.

Diplomats understood the Indian plan would give Egypt the right to manage daily operation of the canal. It would set up an international authority with advisory powers on such matters as toll charges and future development of the canal.

Dulles hurried off for talks with Prime Minister Eden and Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd.

Foreign Minister Christian Pincau of France flew in from Paris. Before leaving Washington, Dulles expressed hope of "achieving positive results" in the talks the United States, Britain and France arranged in the hope of bringing the strategic waterway under international control.

The latest problem confronting the Western Big Three was a reported Soviet scheme to junk the London talks before they get off the ground. Reports from Moscow said Soviet Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov planned to move for adjournment when the conference opens tomorrow and urge that the parley be expanded and held at a different site.

Twenty-four nations were invited to attend the London conference after the July 26 nationalization of the Suez by Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser. Greece and Egypt rejected the bids. Egypt declared all countries that regularly use the waterway, about 45 nations, should be invited to any talks on the canal's future.

Although Russia decided—with reservations—to attend the London meeting, it supported Egypt's nationalization of the canal and said the list of nations invited to Suez talks should be broadened to include the Communist European countries and all Arab nations.

Shepilov was reported ready to announce that the Soviet Union would not abide by any conference decisions on the ground it is not competent to act without Egypt.

Dulles conferred with President Eisenhower before taking off from Washington.

Has Outside Chance—

State Democrats Refuse To Give Up On Symington

CHICAGO (AP)—Missouri Democrats refused to give up today in their campaign to nominate Sen. Stuart Symington for the presidential nomination.

They conceded their man had only an outside chance. But they played for the breaks and schedule a caucus to put new life into the drive.

Yesterday the Missourians put a clincher on their determination to stick with Symington all the way in tomorrow's voting. They adopted a motion to keep on voting for him until someone else wins the nomination.

The Symington backers, operating on donations collected since the convention opened, figure a deadlock between Adlai Stevenson and Averell Harriman must develop before they can start to move.

If that happens, then they must be in a position to move fast to collect any stray "favorite son" votes that might be ready to switch.

With that in mind, they set up a formal campaign organization yesterday, headed by James E. Meredith, manager of Symington's first successful bid for office in 1952.

The Symington supporters profess to be unimpressed by former President Harry S. Truman's backing of Harriman. They point out that Truman backed Symington's primary opponent, former Atty. Gen. J. E. Taylor, in the 1952 senatorial fight which Symington won with a crossroads hand-shaking campaign.

They say he can do it again on a nationwide basis.

Symington continued to play the role of a dark horse candidate who doesn't want to antagonize any sizeable segments of voters.

He said he will see anyone who wants to see him, but wouldn't impose himself on any delegation already bound by its own rules. As before, he told reporters he would be bound by the wishes of the Missouri delegates. And he said he was greatly pleased by the hard core of their support.

At Missouri headquarters, a staff of women workers headed by Mrs. Ella B. Campbell of Kansas City got into high gear, answering telephones, keeping card files up to date and greeting the folks who dropped in from other states.

The volunteer women workers reported a steady flow of visitors.

No one was making any claims about the number of presidential nominating votes Symington might get on the first ballot.

'Betsy' Wind Ends Threat To Mainland

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Betsy slowed to a walk and ended a threat to the U. S. mainland today but an area of strong winds and rain squalls far out in the tropical Atlantic indicated a new storm may be brewing there.

At 5 a.m., EST, Hurricane Betsy was centered about 210 miles east of Melbourne, Fla.

It was moving toward the north at only 7 m.p.h. and is expected to continue moving toward the north or north-northeast during the next 12 hours with a more northeasterly swing after that. This would take it away from the mainland and out into the open Atlantic.

Betsy had winds of 120 m.p.h. over a small area near the center and hurricane winds extended out 70 miles to the northeast, with gales 150 miles to the northeast of the center and 100 miles in other directions.

The San Juan Weather Bureau said a new storm may be forming in the area where Betsy was born last Friday.

A ship reported last night that it encountered winds estimated at 40 to 50 miles an hour about 700 miles east of Puerto Rico.

An observation plane was sent to the spot to investigate. Weathermen explained it could be only a band of unsettled weather.

Betsy was still getting most of the attention.

The Weather Bureau, in a bulletin at 2 a.m., said:

"A hurricane watch is still in effect from Vero Beach, Fla., to Brunswick, Ga., but indications are that the threat is lessening to that area and that the hurricane watch can probably be discontinued later this morning."

The storm battered the Bahamas Island of San Salvador Monday night, leaving many islanders homeless and knocking out the U. S. Air Force's installation for tracking guided missiles fired from Patrick Air Force Base at Cocoa, Fla.

Sedalia Transit Lines Begin Fair Service

The Sedalia Transit Lines will begin bus service to the Missouri State Fair grounds Thursday morning, Harry Goldberg of the firm announced today. Buses will start at 5:30 a.m.

The schedule calls for buses to run on the half-hour to and from the fair grounds, the starting point being Third and Ohio, going south on Ohio to 16th, west on 16th to Limit, south on Limit to the taxi gate to the grounds, thence in on the grounds to the bus and taxi stand.

Goldberg also announced there will be plenty of bus service at the grounds at the close of the grandstand entertainment in the afternoons and at the closing at night. Additional buses have been obtained to furnish this service.

Hodge Receives 10 Years

Sentence Is Given After He Pleads Guilty to Misuse Of Over $800,000

CHICAGO (AP)—Orville Hodge, ousted Illinois state auditor, was sentenced today to 10 years in a federal prison for misapplying more than $800,000 in federal insured bank funds.

Judge John P. Barnes of U. S. District Court passed sentence a few minutes after Hodge, mopping tears from his eyes, heard his lawyer, Arthur Fitzgerald, enter a plea of guilty.

The plea embraced 51 counts of the 54 originally contained in the federal indictment. Hodge also has been indicted by the state of Illinois. The governor dropped three of the counts for technical reasons.

After the hearing, Judge Barnes summoned state and federal attorneys into his chambers and told them "it is my desire that the sentence imposed here be served concurrently with any sentences imposed by the state."

The federal indictment originally accused Hodge and his two co-defendants, Edward A. Epping and Edward A. Hintz of misapplying a total of $875,000 of federally insured bank funds.

The dropping of three counts from the indictment reduced the amount to $816,427.

Hodge was brought here from Springfield this morning by automobile. Hodge left St. John's Hospital in Springfield in a wheelchair.

Hodge had been in the hospital since Monday after spending a brief spell in Sangamon County Jail. He has pleaded guilty to 48 state indictments alleging he took $637,000 in state funds.

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Little change in Missouri's weather pattern is indicated for the next few days. No precipitation of consequence is indicated except for a few widely scattered thundershowers in the extreme northwest this afternoon or tonight and in the southeast Thursday.

Temperatures are inching upward with highs of near 100 forecast for the southwest and near 90 in the northeast by Thursday.

Demo Race Plank Rejects Proposals For Use of Force

Says Supreme Court Decisions 'Brought Consequences of Vast Importance'; Party Unity Saved

CHICAGO (AP)—The Democratic party's proposed civil rights plank said today the Supreme Court's desegregation decisions "have brought consequences of vast importance." But the draft said "we reject all proposals for the use of force to interfere with the orderly determination of these matters by the courts."

Although the suggested education plank had omitted any reference to the Supreme Court, the civil rights section had this to say on the subject:

"Recent decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States relating to segregation in public schools and elsewhere have brought consequences of vast importance to our nation as a whole and especially to communities directly affected. We reject all proposals for the use of force to interfere with the orderly determination of these matters by the courts."

"The Democratic party emphatically reaffirms its support of the historic principle that ours is a government of laws and not of men; it recognizes the Supreme Court of the United States as one of the three constitutional and co-ordinated branches of the federal government, superior to and separate from any political party, the decisions of which are part of the law of the land. We condemn the efforts of the Republican party to make it appear that this tribunal is a part of the Republican party."

The suggested plank had been approved at a session of the drafting committee early today. The vote was 12-5.

While the five Dixie members cast their votes against the wording, most members of the drafting group said they regarded the section as moderate enough to avoid a serious party fight.

Each section of the platform is subject to approval by the full 108-member platform committee and—tonight—by the convention itself.

In the education section approved a few minutes before the drafters made public the civil rights plank, this wording was used:

"Every American child, irrespective of race or national origin, economic status or place of residence, has full right under the law and the Constitution, without discrimination, to every educational opportunity to develop his potentialities."

This was a part of the "human welfare" treatment in the suggested platform.

Both front-running Adlai E. Stevenson and his most serious contender, Averell Harriman, have said they felt the platform should express—in so many words—outright approval of the high tribunal's action.

Dixie delegates to this national convention had threatened a rugged fight and probable loss of Southern votes in the November election if the plank gave specific support to the court's school desegregation decision.

Rep. Emanuel Celler of New York reportedly offered several amendments in an effort to strengthen the plank as demanded by groups advocating strong civil rights measures.

But they were shouted down by the other platform writers anxious to preserve party harmony.

Adlai Gains Needed Votes Of Two States

Remaining Hazard Is Battle Over Civil Rights Issue

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai Stevenson, picking up important support from New Jersey and Michigan, today all but clinched the Democratic presidential nomination. A remaining hazard was a possible battle over a suggested civil rights platform plank saying the Supreme Court's decisions against racial segregation had "brought consequences of vast importance" to the nation.

Stevenson scored his gains despite a bitter 11th hour battle that former President Harry S. Truman was waging for Averell Harriman. Truman called a news conference and characterized Stevenson as a candidate who "lacks the kind of fighting spirit we need to win."

He said he would stick with Harriman "until the last dog dies."

But even as Truman was punching away, the New Jersey delegation caucused and voted to give all its 36 votes to Stevenson on the first ballot tomorrow night.

Earlier, Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan had thrown his support to the 1954 nominee, and a poll of the 44-vote Michigan delegation produced 31½ votes for Stevenson.

The net effect of the Jersey and Michigan actions was to add 60½ votes for Stevenson in the Associated Press tabulation of public expressed preferences by delegates. Earlier tabulations, had taken account of some Stevenson support in the delegations.

With these gains, Stevenson's indicated strength, based on the poll, shot to 633½ votes. This is just 53 short of the 686½ needed to nominate.

Tonight, the delegates will look over and pass on the platform proposed by a committee which has been sweating over it for two weeks.

The big battle in the committee has been over the question of what to say about civil rights and race segregation; more particularly, whether to say anything specific about the Supreme Court's decision that race segregation in public schools is unconstitutional.

Southerners fought against any mention of the Supreme Court.

The drafting subcommittee finally came through today with a plank it hoped would be acceptable all around. This said:

"Recent decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States relating to 'regregation in public supported schools and elsewhere have brought consequences of vast importance to our nation as a whole and especially to communities directly affected. We reject all proposals for the use of force to interfere with the orderly determination of these matters by the courts."

"The Democratic party emphatically reaffirms its support of the historic principle that ours is a government of laws and not of men; it recognizes the Supreme Court of the United States as one of the three constitutional and co-ordinated branches of the federal government, superior to and separate from any political party, the decisions of which are part of the law of the land. We condemn the efforts of the Republican party to make it appear that this tribunal is a part of the Republican party."

Truman Says Adlai Lacks 'Fight Spirit'

Sure He Did Right Thing in Giving Harriman Support

CHICAGO (AP)—Former President Truman said today Adlai Stevenson "lacks the kind of fighting spirit" needed by the Democrats to preserve New Deal and Fair Deal principles.

Truman appeared before a crowded news conference in the Sheraton-Blackstone Hotel to plug anew Averell Harriman for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Truman said he was shocked that "any liberal Democrat would the New Deal and the Fair Deal as out of date."

He said the destruction of the social and economic philosophies underlying these programs is the aim of the conservatives in both the Republican and Democratic parties.

Stevenson, the party's 1952 standard bearer and the front running candidate for the nomination this year, "is not the kind of candidate" that the Democrats need, Truman said, adding: "He lacks the kind of fighting spirit we need."

At the outset of the news conference, Truman said "I'm going to read a statement and then this time I will let you ask me questions."

Missouri Can Show You...

State's FIRST CAPITAL,
St. Charles

The first permanent white settlement on the Missouri River—St. Charles—appropriately served as the state's original capital from 1821 to 1826.

Here, in three adjoining brick buildings still standing on St. Charles' Main street, pioneers framed the special legislation required for Missouri's admission to the Union.

Built in 1814, the old building remains in active use. The center unit retains its original wooden cornice and small windows. In 1826, the capital was moved to Jefferson City.

Missouri can show you a rich and fascinating history in many fields. Since 1810, for instance, Brewing has been an important Missouri industry — and today "Beer Belongs" throughout the state. The United States Brewers Foundation, working in conjunction with brewers, wholesalers and retailers, conducts a Self Regulation program which insures the sale of beer under orderly, well-regulated conditions.

A reception was held in the church basement after the ceremony. Mrs. Lester Langewich, of Sweet Springs, aunt of the bridegroom, and Anna and Elva Charles of Houstonia, served at the bride's table.

Optimists Hear Maag On Astronomy

"The International Geophysical Year" was the subject of an interesting talk given Tuesday noon by Russell Maag at the meeting of the Optimist Club at Bothwell Hotel.

July 1, 1957, he explained, marks the beginning of the International Geophysical Year. The polar year was 1882-83 when four nations, the United States, France, England and Australia, co-operated to make a study of the earth through meteorology, geodesics survey and the earth's magnetism. In 1932-33 there were 24 nations cooperated to study the above fields plus radio, 1957-58 at least 52 nations will study meteorology, climatology, oceanography, geo-magnetism, seismology, cosmic rays, aurorae, glaciology, radio, solar physics, geodesics and geology.

The year 1957 he said, should be the maximum of the sunspot cycle, which was about 11 years ago and it builds up. Sunspots, he pointed out, cause lots of changes, particularly in the weather.

The IGY project on which Maag talked is the plan to launch an earth satellite which will be a polished metal ball 20 inches in diameter, from the Patrick Air Field in Florida. It will first be sent about 40 miles up; the second stage will be through the kick of the rocket sending it 160 miles up and the third stage another kick-in spinning it into space where it will go in its orbit around the earth like the moon. The altitude will be 200 to 800 miles and the orbit time 90 minutes.

The stars are of different magnitudes, Maag told the group, and the differences in the first star magnitude and the sixth star magnitude is 100 times in brightness. Any star less than six cannot be seen with the naked eye. There is 2 1/2 times between the first and second star magnitude, said Maag. The satellite at 200 miles will have the brilliance of a fourth magnitude star or the star that connects the handle of the Big Dipper. It may be seen just after sunset.

Sedalia, said Maag, will have a telescope set up to watch the satellite and has arranged with a network of amateur radio operators from Denver to St. Louis to send the word when the satellite is first sighted. The first place in the network that will see it will be Denver, and ham operators will immediately contact the next place in the network that it is visible there and so on from place to place.

It is an experiment, Maag said, that has already been given much publicity and there will be more and more on it as the time nears. The speaker was introduced by Dr. Ben Klein, program chairman.

Dr. C. J. Blach, president, conducted the meeting with invocation by Charles Hanna, who also led the group singing. Mrs. J. W. Watts was the accompanist.

A rising vote of thanks was given to Fred Arbogast for his work with the Optimist Little League team which lost only one game during the season.

Robert Rubin of the Cettin and Wilson Shows at the Missouri State Fair, was a guest.

'Operation Freeze-Up' Gets Underway for Holiday on Ice

Whatever the soaring temperatures, it's freezing time at the State Fair grounds where under the blazing sun, a huge ice rink—7,200 feet square—is being constructed for the Holiday on Ice Show which will open a five-day run Sunday, Aug. 19, in front of the grandstand.

A crew of refrigeration engineers, traveling ahead of the show, and 20 local technicians started the operation this morning and many of them will work around the clock until the required two-and-a-half inch thickness of ice is built-up for the skaters.

Making ice outdoors under tropical conditions is not new to the Holiday on Ice people who have installed ice surfaces outdoors in Mexico, South America, southern France and Italy. The hottest place they encountered, however, was in Phoenix, Ariz., where the temperature stood at 110 degrees during the day but the ice was ready on schedule.

The basis of the operation is a series of serpentine pipes—nearly five miles of pipes—and a huge $7,000 compressor that reduces a calcium chloride brine to 15 degrees.

Tons of saw dust and a coating of sand are poured between the pipes. The cold brine pumped through the pipes freezes the sand. Then water is sprayed on the sand to form the ice. The brine is in continual circulation through the pipes and back into the compressor for re-cooling. The surface is sprayed every half hour until the desired ice thickness is attained.

During the day the rink is covered with plywood and aluminum cloth.

After the final performance Thursday, Aug. 23, the ice will not be melted, but broken up and carted away. The show maintains two freezing units, one in action with the show while the other is preparing the ice at the show's next stand.

The 1956 edition is the latest presentation of Holiday on Ice Shows, Inc., which started 11 years ago with a small ice rink and 40 skaters. Today with more than 500 skaters under contract it is the world's largest producer of ice shows having units currently playing in Europe, South America, Indonesia (sponsored by the State Department) and two in this country.

The company of nearly 100 will arrive in Sedalia Sunday morning following a nine-day run at the State Fair in Springfield where it has been the feature attraction for seven years. A totally new production is presented each year. From here the show will move on to the Nebraska State Fair in Lincoln.

Holiday on Ice will be at the Missouri State Fair Sunday through Thursday giving one performance each night at 7:30.

Heading the big cast of skaters will be Sonya Kaye, former world figure-skating champion and Olympic contestant and Bill Blocker, Pacific coast champion. A line of 36 young precision-skaters will be featured in six lavishly staged production numbers.

McCormack got agreement on everything else before he turned his cast of characters loose on civil rights.

He had two top assistants for general drafting. They were Joe Duggin and Dewey Anderson, who had worked with McCormack on both the 1948 and 1952 platforms.

Duggin is city attorney of New Bedford, Mass., in McCormack's district. He is strictly a city hall type politician. But he has the ability to write as few or as many words as needed on any subject, clearly or fuzzing it up.

Anderson, a Californian, is director of Institute of Public Affairs. It's a political research and education organization financed by railroad brotherhoods.

Principal guides which the drafters worked from were the 1952 platform and four more recent Democratic National Committee reports: farm policy by ex-Secretary of Agriculture Claude Wickard. Conservation by ex-Secretary of Interior Oscar Chapman. Domestic economy by ex-Chairman Leon Keyserling of Council of Economic Advisers. Foreign policy by Charles S. Murphy, President Truman's former chief counsel, with considerable help from ex-Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

First question was whether to have a short platform. It was decided to let it run, putting in something to appeal to everyone who has a gripe against the Eisenhower administration.

The pitch is that if the Democrats make appeals to enough disgruntled minorities—farmers, labor, small business and Zionists who want arms for Israel—their votes will add up to a majority on election day.

Various planks were first submitted to a 16-member drafting subcommittee.

There were five eastern, five southern and five western members. Yankee McCormack held the whip hand as chairman. Their three day job was to agree on a platform.

All the testimony of over 100 witnesses—a million words in open hearings before the full committee in the week before the convention—was more or less disregarded.

Only effect all these statements may have had was to influence committee members as they voted on planks submitted by the drafting committee.

When the final version is passed on by the 240-odd convention delegates after the floor fight, it will then go to the presidential nominee.

He'll make a speech accepting this great document adopted by this historic convention. After that he'll do what it as he pleases and it will mean only what he says it means.

Few voters will ever read the whole thing. But they gotta have one it's part of the democratic—small d—tradition to know what the party's agin'.

Harold Wayne Ferris, Sedalia, was fined $2 and costs Wednesday morning on a charge of passing on a hill. Ferris pleaded guilty.

Murel S. Staley, Kansas City, was fined $25 and costs Wednesday morning on a charge of passing on a hill. Staley pleaded guilty.

Orville Fox, Sedalia, was fined $100 and costs and given a six months suspended sentence Tuesday on a careless and imprudent driving charge Tuesday. It was reported to the court that Fox had been convicted on intoxicated driving charges three previous times in City Court. Fox was arrested by the city police and testimony was given indicating intoxication.

Jealousy Is A Statistic Now in France

By ROSETTE HARGROVE
NEA Staff Correspondent

PARIS — (NEA) — The course of true love is fraught with dangers in "la belle France." Jealousy kills around 3,000 Frenchmen yearly. According to statistics it is usually after the annual vacation that couples become estranged and marriages go awry. Forty per cent of divorce proceedings are started in the early fall.

France-Dimanche, popular weekly, estimates 60 per cent of French men and 40 per cent of French women suffer the pangs of jealousy. Furthermore, statistics show that jealousy is the motive of 6,000 attempted murders (1,000 of them successful) and 2,000 suicides. It is the cause of all crimes of passion. It separates tens of thousands of couples every year. It leads to prison and to the lunatic asylum. It ruins careers and lives.

For most people vacations mean escape from the daily grind and routine. For the jealous French husband or lover they are a time of frustration. They represent usually three weeks, sometimes three months, of anxious separation. The promiscuity of popular beaches, the meeting of strangers plus the new environment to which wife or girl-friend are exposed are disturbing factors.

A Paris hospital psychiatrist studied the question of jealousy over 10 years. He found that children of alcoholic or epileptic parents are prone to unreasoning jealousy by a high percentage.

Are women more prone to jealousy than men? Dr. A. Lagache, who has written a clinical and psychoanalytical study on "amorous jealousy" declares this varies with the social status. For example, women who work outside the home are less inclined to be jealous than the housewife (38 per cent) proving that economic dependence is good breeding ground for jealousy.

"Generally speaking," said another authority, "the more a woman an is independent the less grounds there are for jealousy. The longer she remains in a state of semi-servitude, the more jealous wives and husbands will be found."

On the masculine side, white-collar workers are said to be definitely more jealous (28 per cent) than men (5 per cent) engaged in manual and especially heavy outdoor labor such as farming, building, etc.

There is, however, a silver lining to this dark cloud. It would appear that fidelity is more commonly practiced in France today than it was fifty years ago. Changing economic conditions are responsible. At the turn of the century it was estimated that 64 per cent of Parisiennes were faithful to their husbands. Today the figure has jumped to 72 per cent.

Wylie, professor of astronomy at Wittenberg College in Springfield, Ohio. The "Martian year"—or time it takes the planet to revolve around the sun—is 687 days. Every 780 days, the earth catches up and passes Mars, these passing times known as "close approaches." During this coming period of close approach, astronomers will be intently studying Mars to determine if there is life there. Dr. Wylie says that "advanced vegetation or animals as we know them could not survive."

Sam Rayburn Blasts GOP Officials

CHICAGO (AP) — The top Democrat in the House of Representatives says the Eisenhower administration hasn't produced "a single new effective contribution toward world peace."

Taking over as permanent chairman of the Democratic National Convention, Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn of Texas last night hit the Republicans for "mis-handling" foreign policy and taking "the most serious risks" with the lives, fortunes and honor of the American people.

At home, he said, the Republicans have practiced a backward labor policy, taken income "out of the pockets" of farm families, and allowed many small businesses to go "to the wall."

Rayburn's induction as permanent chairman was the signal for a boisterous demonstration by the Speaker's fellow Texans in the big hall.

Rapping the gavel, Rayburn halted the demonstration with the smiling observation that "I'm not a candidate for anything."

He is a candidate for re-election to the House, where he already has served for more than 43 years. But he obviously was referring to the fact that most floor demonstrations are staged for candidates for the party's presidential nomination.

In the speech that followed, Rayburn said, "The end result of four years of Republican mis-handling of our foreign affairs is such that we have fewer friends than ever before, and we have made enemies of many that were our friends."

Rayburn aimed several of his thrusts right at President Eisenhower.

At one point, he said, "The man primarily responsible for the conduct of foreign policy simply is not handling the job."

And at another point he charged that under Eisenhower "we have an administration that has developed the classic Army buck-passing game to new heights."

Little Fire-Eating— Democratic Convention Seems Like Mail-Order Catalogue

CHICAGO (AP) — If by some trick of electronics the Democratic National Convention appeared exciting to you on television last night, you'd better trade in your set.

Considered strictly as a show, the party's performance in Chicago's cavernous livestock amphitheater had all the drama of a mail order catalogue. There was little of the fire-eating whoop and holler exploded on opening night by Gov. Frank Clement of Tennessee, the keynote.

A warm ovation greeted bald, dour Sam Rayburn, speaker of the House, when he took over the gavel as permanent chairman.

"Mr. Sam" accused the Republicans of mishandling foreign affairs and said President Eisenhower must bear that responsibility. In passing, Rayburn noted, "We're not going to make the health of the President an issue." This, apparently, is becoming one of the most frequently mentioned non-issues of the convention.

The next featured speaker might have been expected to provide some dramatic irony. Just four years ago, in the same hall, he was working furiously for the nomination of Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon returned as a Democrat and excoriated the Eisenhower administration as "government by big business regency."

But neither Rayburn nor Morse could ever be accused of inciting a mob to riot. While their appearances drew a noisy hand and waving of state banners, their rhetoric was interrupted only spasmodically by scattered applause.

Many of the blue delegate seats stared back empty at the speaker first one last week, and, by yesterday, the number of gallons being pumped still hadn't been determined.

Most of those who remained on the premises were busy not listening. They read newspapers, milled in the aisles or clotted around ubiquitous TV interviewers, the fellows with the fantastic mobile equipment that looks like it came from outer space.

Before the convention, there was considerable talk about the need for streamlining and dramatizing the big political clambakes for the sake of the television audience. Thus far, the Democrats have revealed no new techniques except movies and quiz shows on the podium.

Last night's film was a clip from "The Best Years of Our Lives," used to introduce Harold Russell, the armless war veteran who was featured in the movie.

The convention's real excitement, of course, was still back in the downtown hotel rooms, in the crowded corridors and lobbies were Adlai Stevenson and Averell Harriman of New York continued their tug-of-war over delegate votes.

While speakers in the hall were unanimously lambasting Republicans, the Democrats downtown were doing considerable intramural mauling. Probably the best description of the situation came from a Kansas delegate. Asked how his delegation would go, he said, "I don't know but we're sure working on each other."

After the night session, former President Truman, Stevenson and other party bigwigs gathered at a hotel dining thrown by Perle Mesta, the Democrats' Elsa Maxwell. They drank champagne from glasses trimmed with pink rosebuds. The party of the common man also ate uncommonly well—lobster, ham, turkey, three salads, strawberries in brandy and petits fours.

During 1955, the total milk production from Kentucky cows was 2,477 million pounds.

The average price of a pound of dye, sufficient to color 600 sweaters, is a mere $1.17 today.

Fair Weather Prevails Over Most of Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There were showers in the Rockies and a few sprinkles in the eastern half of the country but generally fair weather prevailed in other parts of the country today.

Rainfall was light in the Rocky Mountain region and showers were widely scattered in the eastern half of the nation. Skies, however, were mostly cloudy except in New England and parts of New York.

There was a warming trend in the central and northern Great Plains and the middle and upper Mississippi Valley. Hot weather showed no immediate break in the above 100 degrees again yesterday in many areas.

Attic Space Converts Into Nice Rooms

When is it good sense to convert attic space into a finished room? In general, it's good sense when the space is both needed and available. Beyond this, the home-owner must realize that a number of different steps are necessary to make an attic room livable. Unless he is prepared to do a complete job, the remodeling will not be rewarding no matter how badly the living space is needed.

Experts say an attic room must measure at least 8 feet by 10 feet, with a 6½-foot ceiling. Full head-room is essential only in the center of the room. But the side walls, where furniture can be placed, shouldn't be lower than 4½ feet. Practicality depends upon accessibility — the existence of a stairway or the likelihood of having one built cheaply. In the absence of a stairway, the do-it-yourself enthusiast will do well to wait until he can get word from a professional builder about what will take to build attic stairs.

The home-owner must be prepared to insulate the attic room fully. In winter the roof becomes a refrigerator, nearly as cold as the outdoors. In summer, it often zooms to 165 degrees. To protect the room, the home-owner should staple mineral wool batts and blankets to the rafters and collar joists.

Coupled to insulation is the problem of heating. There's a good chance that the central heating plant of the house will not be able to supply enough heat for the increased space.

Auxiliary heating equipment is probably the answer. But there is another possibility that ought to be considered, too. If the main body of the house isn't insulated or if it has less than an adequate amount of insulation, filling the walls with mineral wool all the way around might solve the problem.

This will have the effect of considerably lessening the heating requirements of the original house with the result that some of the capacity of the furnace will be freed for the newly added space.

The heating system will have to be balanced again, if this is done. Dampers will have to be adjusted, and new "runs" — warm air ducts — or hot water pipes and radiators will have to be installed in the expansion rooms. All of this is a job for the local heating contractor.

As a matter of fact, deciding whether insulating the original house will release adequate heating capacity for the new section is a job for the heating contractor, too. He knows how to compute the "heat loss" of the house both with and without full insulation. The difference between the two is the amount of heat that insulation saves.

Insulation of the sidewalls would be blown in by a pneumatic process. Like heating, this isn't do-it-yourself work, and the skills of an established insulation contractor are essential.

To be practical in finishing an expansion attic, the room must have at least one window, preferably two. A ponderosa pine window unit can usually be installed in a gable end without great difficulty. When this is not possible, a dormer must be built. Wood window units, consisting of both sash and frame, are assembled in the factory for smooth operation. A unit is completely weather-stripped and is chemically treated to avoid sticking and warping.

A Puzzle To The Devil...

Man and his problems!

Weeds, paving, flies, mosquitoes, political conventions, parking lots.

Recently we mentioned that Sedalia parking lots were being used for dual purposes much to the annoyance of early-retiring residents living nearby.

"Sedalia should complain!" writes an irate rural reader. "If you think those love birds disturb the rest of you city folks, what about us farmers around Sedalia?"

"We have been putting up with the same nuisance for some time and it is getting unbearable. We can't appeal to the police like you folks in the city. But if this parking business doesn't stop we may be compelled to use stronger methods."

"The most of us farmers work through long hot days and need our rest, and we sure are not going to put up with a bunch of roughnecks parking in front of our homes till the morning hours and having to pick up a lot of beer and whisky bottles afterwards."

"We farmers pay five cents to park an hour in Sedalia and these Sedalia birds who came out into the country figure they can park free all night and carouse within fifty yards of our house, and go home drunk and unmolested. But nix. It must stop!"

By providing off-street parking Sedalia apparently are solving one problem and creating another. However, here in town the love-bird parking can be broken up by the police because the Sedalia parking lots are not too numerous and it doesn't put a patrol car to much inconvenience shooting the parkers off to home.

However, out in the country is another matter. Pettis County is a huge area to police. We doubt if rural parking is ever going to be completely abolished unless the sheriff is provided a budget to pay for a couple dozen night-time deputies.

As a matter of fair play it does seem that our farmer friends who in large measure contribute to the economy of Sedalia's commercial life, should have some consideration from the parkers. There is no sense in cluttering up the approaches to their homes with discarded debris. This in itself is a violation of the law punishable by fine.

Country lane parkers should be a little more circumspect about their behavior. If they must park they should keep a discreet distance from any farmhouse. Otherwise we don't want them coming in and asking that their name be kept out of the paper because they were arrested, or worse be picking rock salt out of their behind from a shotgun blast.

All these goings on remind us of what the Scottish poet Burns wrote:

"What is man? . . . All in all he's a problem that must puzzle the devil."

Washington Merry-Go-Round—

Non-Smokers Make Deal In Smoky Room

By DREW PEARSON

CHICAGO — Convention politics in this sprawling, vibrating city can be as changeable as the Canadian breeze off Lake Michigan or the hot wind off the prairies. It can be as clean as the tower along the lake front built on chewing gum or putrid as the stockyards or as tawdry as the B-girl dives along Wabash Avenue. In brief, Chicago is unpredictable and so is convention politics. . . . But in a city which has seen Warren G. Harding's name pulled out of a smoke-filled deadlock between General Leonard Wood and Governor Frank O. Lowden, that saw Harry Truman's name come out of a smoke-filled room to be vice-president, and which saw Richard Nixon's name zoom out of another smoke-filled room to soar from a relative unknown to one of the more famous names in the nation against this background, a strange thing happened at this convention. . . . Two men sat down in a smoke-filled room in which neither smoked and neither proposed a deal. The two had fought each other through Minnesota, Florida, California, had said some unkind things about each other. But in a hotel room in Chicago they sat down and talked things over together. . . . They talked for an hour and a half. Estes Kefauver outlined the delegates he thought were weak and might not go to Stevenson; also the delegates that were likely to follow his advice and support Stevenson. He went over the political chart of the U.S.A. state by state; Adlai Stevenson listened. . . . Kefauver asked for nothing in return. Stevenson offered nothing in return — a rarity in American politics.

Love that Lyndon — Two days before the Chicago Merry-Go-Round opened tall, handsome Lyndon Johnson of Texas had no more idea of taking his candidacy seriously than he did of abandoning his campaign to help big gas, oil producers. Suddenly on the Hilton's 23rd floor carpenters began nailing together a Johnson booth. Suddenly Johnson placards blossomed from nowhere; red silk "Love That Lyndon" ribbons were passed out to anyone looking remotely like a Texan. Suddenly, also, Lyndon flew to Chicago. . . . reason:

Lyndon heard via his old friend and political mentor Sam Rayburn, that Harry Truman was coming out for Averell Harriman—which meant a possible deadlock convention, a race in which a dark horse might win. Truman's announcement was to be at 3:30. That was why Lyndon, one of the smartest political operators of this generation, beat him to it with his own announcement at 1:30 p. m. that he was in the race to stay. . . . Whether he stays or performs a holding operation for his friend, Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri, remains to be seen. In either event, cardiac Lyndon was missing no tricks — even if he did knock another prop out from under the best campaign issue the Democrats have, the health of cardiac Eisenhower.

Scurrying delegates — Almost none of the Kefauver-Stevenson faithful knew their chiefs had huddled alone in a nonsmoke-filled room, had discussed their delegates, but made no deals. They also didn't know that Harriman's men had been all over Chicago and by telephone all over the U. S. A., wooing Kefauver's released delegates. . . . Complacently, Stevenson men had sat by, waiting for delegates to come to them. This didn't happen. Said Minnesota Bob Short, "We voted against Adlai Stevenson and for Kefauver. We're not going to back the man we voted against unless he takes Kefauver for vice president." . . . Out in Idaho, where Harriman's Union Pacific Railroad is powerful some Kefauver delegates switched fast to Harriman. Some even had their way paid to Chicago by Harriman. . . . Belatedly after Harry Truman electrified the convention, after Lyndon Johnson announced his holding operation, complacent Stevenson managers got busy.

Chicago-Go-Round
Ex-President Truman wrote to several friends before leaving for Chicago. "Come out to Chicago," he urged. "Something dramatic is going to happen." . . . Adlai Stevenson's 1952 running mate, Alabama Senator John Sparkman, paid a private call on Stevenson to make clear he didn't expect to be on the ticket again. . . . Senator Estes Kefauver, who has battled with big city bosses, is backed for the vice presidency by two of the most powerful bosses — Chicago's Jake Arvey and Pittsburgh's Mayor Dave Lawrence. They want him because they are convinced he would add the most strength to the Democratic ticket. . . . Coincidentally, Kefauver is also favored by most midwest farm delegates who sent Minnesota's Don Wozniak and Bob Short to notify Stevenson that they would support him if Kefauver were on the ticket.

All Stevenson would say was that he had not promised the vice presidency to anyone else. . . . Governor Harriman's political henchman Carmine de Sapio, has sounded out Kentucky's governor Happy Chandler about running as Harriman's vice president. . . . Harry Truman has hinted privately that he thinks Tennessee's young, Bible-quoting Governor Frank Clement would make an appealing vice president. . . . Indiana's arch-Republican Bill Jenner showed up in Chicago in the middle of the Democratic convention. He explained firmly to curious Democrats that he had come to see the All-Star football game. . . . Los Angeles manufacturer Allan Adler is prepared to stamp out 5,000 hole pins per day to Adlai Stevenson's famous hole-in-the-sole shoe. Stevenson headquarters plan to peddle the pins for $1.00 each if their candidate wins.

Affable, back-slapping Happy Chandler, governor of Kentucky and the favorite-son candidate from that state, is passing out $500 bills to visitors at his headquarters on the 13th floor of the Sheraton Blackstone hotel. The bills are backed by the Confederate States of America, though, and some delegates are commenting that Happy's chances aren't worth any more than the fake money.

The Right Direction

It was cheerful, if not surprising, news that the federal government had a surplus of $1.75 billion in the year which ended June 30. Better still was the word that the excess had been used to make a small reduction on the nation's huge public debt.

That debt has now been reduced to $272,750,000,000, still a whopping sum. Nevertheless it is nice to see it go down a trifle instead of constantly up. Debt reduction has seldom been in fashion since the early 1930's.

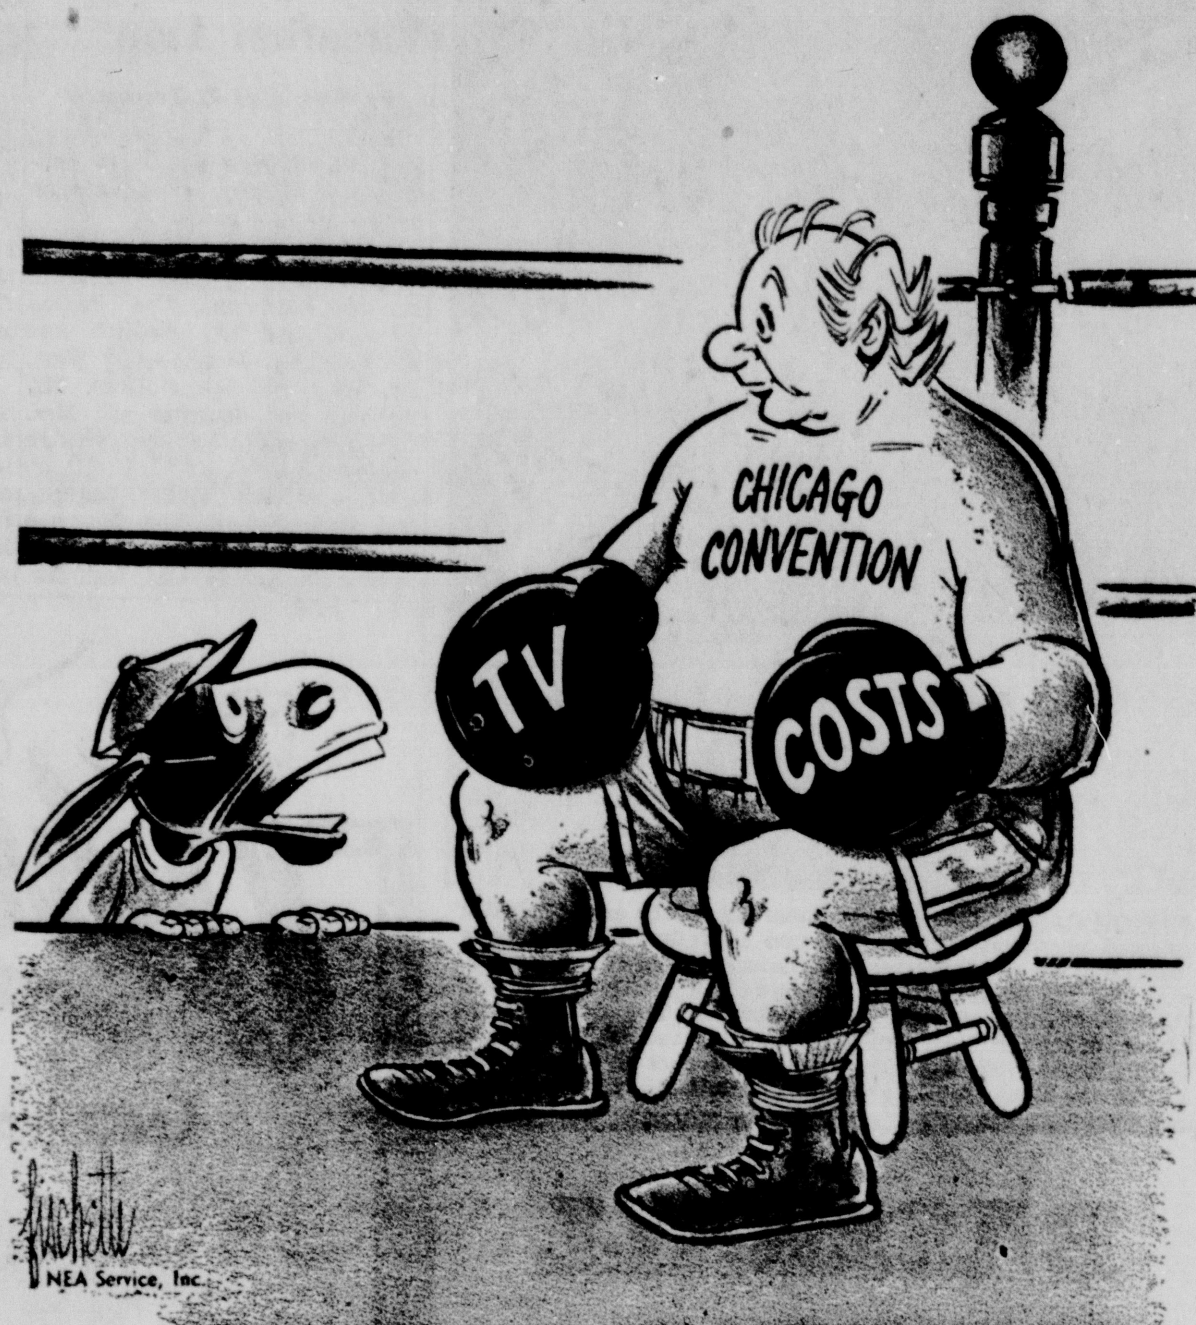

Prospects for another somewhat larger surplus are good for the present fiscal year. No doubt if it is big enough the lawmakers on Capitol Hill will translate it into some kind of tax reduction. But it would be a pity if some of the extra revenue were not used once more to make perhaps a more substantial slice in the debt.

The World Today—

Things Had Better Pick Up for Demos

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
CHICAGO — This is a dull Democratic convention. No great visible enthusiasm here for the candidates for nomination, any of them. There is just cold horse-trading in hotel rooms for delegate votes.

Things may pick up. They'd better, if the Democrats hope to win the election.

President Eisenhower looks like an odds-on winner next November. He'll look even more so unless the Democrats can pump more life into their campaign than they have shown in their convention.

One wit, thinking of the reaction of people at home and what they've been seeing on their TV screens — old-fashioned speeches, hackneyed phrases, the same old clichés, synthetic floor demonstrations — said:

"This convention has set television back 15 years."

And the Republican convention in San Francisco next week will be even duller unless there's a fight over renominating Vice President Nixon.

The whole dragged-out nature of this convention—using Monday and Tuesday for speeches that could have been cut in half or left unsaid altogether—caused some wonder:

Isn't it about time the politicians got wise to themselves and began thinking in modern terms by either shortening their conventions or putting new ideas into them?

And somewhere there must be a prize waiting for the first person who can prove that a brass band —there are brass bands for the candidates here — ever won a single vote for anyone.

The whole meat in the coconut is that Adlai Stevenson came here—after working his head off in the primaries to win delegates—way out in front and he's stayed there, former President Truman notwithstanding.

Truman tried to build a fire by coming out for Gov. Averell Harriman. So far there's no evidence it's more than a small blaze.

It may be that all he accomplished was to provide enough light for him to see that he exaggerated his own importance among Democrats and that the influence he had as president is gone.

But his performance — Remembering he has been a faithful party democrat and is an old pro in politics — is astounding. It's not that he's bent on ruining Stevenson. It's the way he tried to ruin him.

He said yesterday he doesn't think Stevenson could win the election if this convention nominated him. Now if Stevenson gets the nomination, Truman has handed the Republicans ammunition to use against the Democratic party candidate.

It's a strange performance for a man who knows politics as well as Truman.

It raises a question: Is his feeling against Stevenson strictly political? Or is it also deeply personal?

Everybody here is extremely "moderate" — including Harriman, who denounced moderation — as if somehow this were the golden key to the future. But the Democratic politicians' memory seems short.

In 1948, in a shattering fight over civil rights, the Democrats were split wide open at a time when the Republicans' candidate, Thomas E. Dewey, looked a sure winner. But Truman and the Democrats won.

In 1952 the Republicans put on the harshest convention fight of a generation — the struggle between the Eisenhower forces and the supporters of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft — but they went on to win.

Dr. Jordan Says—

Drugs Provide Relief For Some Asthma Patients

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.

Asthma respects neither age, sex, nor economic status. A person can get this miserable affliction almost anywhere in the world.

It occurs (or at least begins more frequently) in the months when plants, particularly ragweed, shed their pollen into the air. But once established, asthma can and often does last throughout the year.

The seat of asthma is principally in the bronchi, which are the small tubes leading from the main breathing tube, or trachea, into the lung tissue itself. The walls of these bronchi become thickened, narrowed and filled with mucus. Sometimes the bronchial tubes also undergo contractions or spasms which still further narrow the space through which the air can pass.

This obstruction explains the shortness of breath. There simply is not enough air getting through to the lungs.

The coughing associated with asthma is nature's way of trying to enlarge the openings.

Asthma is an allergy, that is, a sensitiveness of the patient to some substance produced outside the body. The offending substance or substances may be inhaled proteins like ragweed pollen, a food or something else.

When the cause can be identified and eliminated from the vicinity of the victim of asthma, the results may be highly satisfactory.

Sometimes "desensitizing" is highly effective. Even when that cannot be done, treatment which is not aimed at the allergic cause may be remarkably successful.

Treatment of a sinus infection, for example, may help. Other treatments which have been included are the direct application of an iodized oil, the use of X-rays, and breathing gaseous mixtures containing oxygen and helium.

A. T., in a letter, says that when other methods failed, his doctor prescribed cortisone which brought complete relief. But as soon as it was stopped the asthma returned.

He asks particularly whether there is any danger in the continued use of cortisone and what qualities cortisone has which makes it effective against asthma.

One must answer that there is some danger in the continued use of cortisone and there are recognized complications which may come from it. It must therefore be used with care, though it certainly has value for some victims of asthma.

The question on the quality in cortisone which makes it effective in asthma is indeed hard to answer. About all we know is that it appears to alter the reaction of the body in certain ways which may bring at least temporary relief in a number of diseases. However, further study will be necessary before it is known exactly how this preparation — or ACTH — acts.

Change of location or climate is sometimes desirable. Some asthma sufferers are helped by this and others are not. A person with asthma who is forced to consider change of climate should plan to give the new location a trial period before burning the bridges at home.

Odds and Ends
By News Staff

EVERYBODY HAS GONE thru the experience one time or another of being locked out of their house. That was the situation one woman found herself in one evening when she came home but she had a window she knew was unlocked. With her was her small grandson, so she lifted him up and put him through the window to go unlock the door. But it wasn't as easy as that. It was dark in the house and the little boy is afraid of the dark. He was scared to go into the next room and unlock the door and, not knowing what to do, just stood there. Finally, the woman, who was waiting for the door to be unlocked, called to him. The youngster appeared at the window and told her he was afraid to go into the living room because it was too dark in there.

"Well, turn on the light," she told him, and he did. That was different. With the light on he could see that nobody was in the living room, so in he went, unlocked the door and let her in.

Soft-pedaling Corruption—

'A Mess In Washington,' Is Clamor of Democrats

By Esther Van Wagoner Tufty
Of Our Washington Bureau

CHICAGO — "Get rid of the mess in Washington."

The Democrats here are borrowing that 1952 GOP phrase as a major campaign thrust in the city more windy than ever as breezes blow.

Examples are cited by Democrat pros to back up Democratic claims that "corruption has corroded the Eisenhower crusade."

1. The Dixon-Yates deal is the chief target of the Democrats. The purpose of the whole affair, which the Administration has cancelled, was to give a private utility a big profit and to cut into TVA territory, say the Democrats. They're charging that the Administration has admitted as much in its legal answer in court to the Dixon-Yates suit for damages on cancellation of the contract.

2. Former Secretary of the Air Force, Harold Talbot, admitted he had been using his office and official Air Force stationery to solicit business among Air Force contractors for his private firm and had received over $132,000 in profits from it since he became Secretary. The Democrats claim this was more than the "mistake" Talbot admitted to making.

3. The Democrats have Agriculture Secretary Ezra Benson on the griddle on two counts. They charge he used Federal funds to repair a home used by himself and his family. Benson countered the charge was also used as "a guest house for visiting veterinarians." Democrats also charge Benson has done nothing to correct a situation which cost the taxpayers almost $3 million and has been pronounced "unauthorized and illegal" by the Comptroller General. Cheese processors were allowed to buy cheese from the government and sell it back to the government immediately at a higher price. The cheese actually never left the processors' warehouses.

4. Head of the General Services Administration, Edmund Mansure, was recommended by a Chicago politician and insurance broker soon after, the Chicago friend landed a large brokerage fee on a contract on a nickel plant in Cuba awarded by GSA and allegedly cleared through Mansure's office. Mansure resigned.

5. Commissioner of Public Buildings, Peter Strobel, is charged with prodding subordinates into awarding government contracts to clients of the engineering firm in which he had a 90 per cent interest.

6. As head of the Interstate Commerce Commission, Hugh W. Cross is said to have interceded with railroad companies to get a luggage transfer franchise for a friend. Cross, in resigning, admitted he had been "indiscreet."

7. A former classmate of the President's and now Commissioner of Immigration, Joseph Swing, has admitted using a government airplane, air-conditioned trailer and automobiles for five hunting trips in Mexico. Swing claims the trips were primarily to confer with Mexican officials but the Democrats say a check of the guest list shows that the officials were relatively minor.

8. A GOP National Chairman, Wesley Roberts, resigned from office after being charged with accepting $11,000 for selling the State of Kansas a building it already owned.

9. Orville E. Hodge, GOP State Auditor of Illinois, resigned under charges he had misused $700,000 in state funds.

10. Colorado Republican State Chairman Haskell was indicted for income tax evasion four days after attending a political strategy conference with the President in Denver.

11. Murray Chotiner, Vice President Nixon's close personal advisor, has admitted using White House influence on behalf of some of his clients.

To top these scandals, the Democrats say, "you have to go back to the administration of Ulysses S. Grant." And today the government spends 200 times as much as it did then.

What is worse, the Democrats assert, is that the Administration itself has uncovered none of the cases of corruption. All were brought to light by Congressional investigators or the press. Also it is said here the White House has never fired any of these officials or asked for their resignation. When they did quit because of public pressure, Democrats are pointing out, they received silver trays, medals or commendatory letters.

This proves, the Democrats charge, that Eisenhower is not carrying out his pledge to cast out "the crooks and their cronies" without waiting for Congressional prodding.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Diefenbacher, D.D.

Little tots like to play with pots and pans on the kitchen floor. They enjoy these utensils more than they do all the "educational toys" which have been produced to develop their skills and their minds.

The imagination of a child can more easily accept a house made out of cake pans than one made of plastic bricks. A truck or an airplane made out of a soup ladle is more satisfying than a plastic replica of a flying machine.

Some mothers become annoyed by the children playing under their feet. They stumble over the mess on the kitchen floor. They lose patience with the need to wash and wash the same pots and pans which were already cleaned and prepared for normal use. We wonder why the little ones cannot be satisfied to play with their toys in their own play areas.

There are probably a great number of reasons for children acting the way they do, but we do not give much thought about "why." We overlook the fact of inventiveness and the multiple uses for things. Adults use hairpins for many uses beyond pinning up hair. They use table knives for screwdrivers. They use the heels of shoes for hammers.

As adults, we set the example for inventiveness and for imaginative endeavor. What is more, we like to be where people are. When God created man and gave him the gift of love, He made people want to be with others and to act like others. Children do not want to be "in our way." They want to be with those who love them.

God wants a lot of love in the world or He would not have created us the way we are.

CBS Plans 'Thematic' Programing

NEW YORK (AP) — The CBS-TV network will launch a scheme of "thematic" programming three evenings a week when the fall season gets under way, a run-down of its night-time plans reveal.

Thursday evenings viewers will see two and one-half continuous hours of drama. (All times listed are eastern.) "Climax!" remains in its current spot at 8:30 p.m. At 9:30 p.m., beginning Oct. 4, "Playhouse 90" will present a weekly 90-minute drama.

Friday evenings, long a dead spot on television, is opening up on CBS-TV as a "children's night," commencing at 7:30 p.m. when "My Friend Flicka" returns in a filmed series. At 8 p.m., beginning Oct. 5, will come "West Point Story," a filmed series based on life at the military Academy. "Zane Grey Theatre," a series of filmed westerns, will bow in the same evening at 8:30 p.m.

On Saturday evenings, beginning Sept. 22, a new filmed children's adventure series entitled "Buccaneer" will make its appearance. The following Saturday Jackie Gleason returns to his former successful format of a live hour show at 8 p.m. The same evening of Gleason's return a new situation comedy, "Oh Susanna," starring Gale Storm, makes its debut. Beginning Sept. 8 at 9:30 p.m. will come a new musical situation comedy series called "Hey, Jeannie," starring Gale Storm.

There are no proposed changes in the current Monday evening CBS-TV schedule.

But Tuesdays might be called "comedy night," beginning Oct. 2. Following Phil Silvers in his present spot at 8 p.m. will come two new comedy programs. They are "The Brothers," a situation comedy at 8:30 p.m., and the Herb Shriner Show at 9 p.m. At 9:30 p.m. will come Red Skelton in a half-hour show. "The $64,000 Question" remains in its current 10 p.m. spot.

Only one change is planned in the Wednesday evening schedule. Beginning Nov. 7 a new quiz show called "Giant Step" will be seen at 7:30 p.m. The new show will have members of the younger generation competing for college scholarships.

GOP Will Continue Delegate Polling

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — It may take time, but Republican conventions are going to keep on allowing polls of delegations whenever they are requested.

The proposal came up briefly at a rules committee meeting to eliminate the time-consuming process of polling delegations at the convention.

"It ran into almost unanimous opposition," said Gov. Theodore McKeldin of Maryland, chairman of the subcommittee on rules, "so we will do as we have in the past. If anybody wants to stand up and be counted, he can."

Stevenson Holds Peace Against Truman Blasts

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson held his peace and his poise today in the face of a fresh blast of criticism from former President Truman.

He followed the boxing ring strategy of shying away from toe-to-toe slugging while you're far ahead on points.

Truman's statement yesterday that "I don't think he (Stevenson) can win" in the November election drew no return fire from Stevenson.

But James Finnegan, Stevenson's campaign manager, told newsmen he didn't think Truman's opposition would have any effect on Stevenson's drive for the Democratic presidential nomination.

"I think," Finnegan said, "the delegates have definitely decided Stevenson is their one hope of defeating President Eisenhower this year and have decided to cast their votes for him."

Stevenson maintained a busy schedule of visits with delegates designed to build up his lead over

AFTER THE BRAWL IS OVER—This wild melee, looking like the brawl to end brawls, is actually a staged fight scene, being filmed in Elstree, England. The shenanigans are necessary for a scene in the film, "The Good Companions." Out of the dangerous-looking pile-up of stars and extras, the actors emerged unscathed.

Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, endorsed by Truman.

Roger Tubby, Stevenson's press secretary, said he feels that "the Truman-Harriman effort has clearly failed, and we think the Harriman camp is pretty desperate."

Stevenson strategists, who have claimed more than 600 of the 686½ delegate votes required for nomination, were cheered by reports that New Jersey, Wisconsin and Maryland are leaning toward Stevenson and were looking hopefully toward other states.

Dempsey Story Is Scheduled

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The Jack Dempsey story will finally hit the screen early next year and the former heavyweight champion thinks Marlon Brando would be "terrific" in the part.

But he's got opposition at home. His daughter, Joan, wants Rock Hudson. Jack will go for that easting too.

Jack Palance, one of the few top actors who ever had a career as a professional heavyweight, also is a possibility. Dempsey thinks Palance would be a good choice too.

"The main thing," said Dempsey, "is not that the actor look like me but that he be big enough at the boxoffice to sell the picture."

Jack, now 61 and still looking fit enough to go a few rounds with any of the current heavyweight crop, gives a logical explanation for that statement.

"I own a percentage of the picture and the bigger draw the star is, the more money I'll get."

It's refreshing to get such an honest answer as Jack's.

The Dempsey story is being written by Rowland Barber, who wrote the successful story of Rocky Graziano, "Somebody Up There Likes Me."

Missing in the Dempsey saga will be the role of Jack Kearns, colorful manager during Dempsey's championship heyday. Both

About Town

Mrs. Violet Mae Crompton, 1333 South Grand, bookkeeper at People's Furniture Store, is on a two-week vacation.

Barber and Dempsey admit that it has been Kearns who has delayed the Dempsey story so far.

"Kearns wants to control everything from production to writing and would like it to be more the 'Jack Kearns Story' than the 'Jack Dempsey Story,'" Barber said.

Dempsey commented: "I had lots of managers before Jack and lots after. Tex Rickard did more for me than anyone else."

Dempsey considers the Jess Willard fight one of the toughest of his career although Willard took one of the worst beatings ever administered in the ring. The other tough one was Luis Firpo, who sailed Dempsey out of the ring until the champ came back to knock him out.

Gagne in Win Over Dusek Here Tuesday

Verne Gagne, Chicago, Ill., made his first appearance in Missouri Tuesday night and proved he was better than Joe Dusek of Omaha, Neb., on one of the most exciting matches of the season to date. In the other event Gentleman Jim Dobbie, Independence, and Roy McClarity, Winnipeg, Canada, went to a draw.

Fans were treated to an unexpected scrap between Dobbie and Dusek in a one fall special event which went 20 minutes to a draw, but not until after Dusek threatened to carry the "difference," a piece of iron, into the ring during the heat of the match.

The extra event was added when Ada Ash, Gerard, Mo., failed to arrive at the park in time to go on. Her opponent Kathy Starr, Hollywood, Calif., was in the stands waiting her rival, who didn't appear until just as the crowd was leaving the ball park.

Miss Ash drove from Davenport, Ia., and had motor trouble just south of St. Joseph, and called Promoter Gust Karras from there. She had hoped to make it before the feature event had ended. The extra 20-minute bout was added, but her time guessing fell short.

McClarity and Dobbie provided 30 minutes of heated wrestling, scientific wrestling, and in general a lot of excitement in the ring for the fans. The bell sounded ending the match in a draw, a pleasing decision to the fans in the stands and at ringside.

Dusek and Gagne, both tops in the wrestling competition, had a battle of wits in Texas rules. Dusek succeeded in overpowering the TV champion from Chicago in the first period after 22 minutes and 57 seconds.

The second and third falls went to Gagne, who outsmarted the bad boy from Omaha. Gagne took Dusek in the second period in eight minutes and 35 seconds while the second fall took the champion 14 minutes and 59 seconds to win.

In the special event, Promoter Karras asked Dobbie and Dusek to meet in a one-fall event, hoping Miss Ash would arrive in time to go on before the crowd departed. Dusek was reluctant to continue, but agreed after a time and they "had-at-it" to the extreme satisfaction of the ringsiders.

With the Missouri State Fair being here next week, followed by Labor Day holidays, it was decided by the Legion not to open the fall campaign until the second or third week of September.

Plans to Play Each Game As It Comes

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Fred Haney, manager of the league-leading Milwaukee Braves, is going to "play them as they come" instead of fretting about the grueling six-week home stretch.

The Braves had a chance last night to widen their margin over second-place Brooklyn but took a 6-2 defeat from the St. Louis Cardinals. It left Milwaukee two games up on the Bums and only three ahead of third-place Cincinnati.

"We're going to play every game as it comes along," Haney said. "The team we have to beat right now is the Cardinals." St. Louis, with a 7-6 margin, and Philadelphia, 9-6, are the only two clubs in the league with an edge over the front-running Braves. Brooklyn is 8-10 and Cincinnati 4-9 against the leaders.

Haney managed to find a bright spot out of the loss to St. Louis as his big fast-balling right-hander Bob Buhl made his first start in 11 days after suffering a chipped bone in the index finger of his pitching hand.

Buhl gave up three runs and five hits in the six innings he worked. He walked four, two of whom came on to score, but didn't strike out a batter. It was his fifth defeat against 14 wins.

One of the hits was a decisive two-run pinch homer by Rocky Nelson. "Buhl's ready to go," Haney said, "and that's heartening."

Lefty Warren Spahn will work for the Braves tonight against Tom Poholsky for the Cards in the second game of a three-game series.

Seek Absenteeism Cure for Freshmen

STEVENS POINT, Wis., (AP) — The National Football League Green Bay Packers today continued to seek a cure for freshman absenteeism.

The only one of the first five Packers drafted now working in the training camp is Forrest Gregg, Southern Methodist tackle claimed on the second round.

A pair of Oklahoma standouts, halfback Bob Burris and guard Cecil Morris, worked out for the All-Star game and then notified the Packers they had decided not to report. Burris, No. 6 choice, suffered a slight concussion and an injured knee during the All-Star practice and did not suit up for the game. Morris was the No. 4 Packer selection.

Louise Suggs Will Defend Title Thursday

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Louise Suggs will defend her title against 20 top women professional golfers in the $5,000 Norwood Hills Women's Invitational Open starting tomorrow.

Miss Suggs won last year with a 286, 14 under par for women, and proved she is as good as ever by winning the recent All-American tourney at Tam O'Shanter in Chicago.

Challengers include Marlene Bauer Hagge, leading money winner this year among women pros; Mrs. Kathy Cornelius, winner of the recent Women's National Open; Mary Lena Faulk and Fay Crocker.

Women's par is 76 (37-39) for Hills course. First prize is $900.

Youngsters Play in Golf Tournament

An inspiring group of young golfers went around 18 holes in scores that would put many adult players to shame Tuesday in a junior golf tournament held at the Sedalia Countryview course.

Displaying real sporting blood and the desire to win, the youngsters shot for prizes in three flights. The entrants ranged in ages from 7 to 14, along with one girl golfer.

Flight "A" was won by Loy Holman who toured the sand greens layout in 49-48-97; second place went to Mike Hanigan with 53-50-103; and Galen Bigelow took third with 50-60-110.

Charlie Patterson Jr. captured Flight "B" by firing the 18 holes in 56-57-113; the tournament's only girl, petite Marsha Anne Feig—pigtails and all—came up with runnerup spot with 68-58-126; and Adam Fisher carded a 66-73-139 for third.

In Flight "C," Larry Siron swept around the distance in 72-79-151 for first place; seven-year-old Terry Lee Feig, youngest of the bunch, showed the rest of the boys that size and age isn't everything and whipped up a neat 79-76-155 for second; and Stan Jones shot in third place with 79-78-157. Trophies will be awarded to first place winners in the three flights.

Benciscutto Claims Medal Honors in Golf

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A homestate pro, Mike Benciscutto of Racine, Wis., fired a sparkling four under par 66 yesterday to claim medal honors as the final 55 entrants qualified for the $35,000 Milwaukee Open golf tournament that swings into first round action tomorrow.

Benciscutto, Wisconsin amateur champion in 1949 and 1950, came up with great putting to take a one-under 34 on the out nine and finished up with a three-under 32 on the last nine. He rolled in five birdies and took only one bogey.

The 55 qualifiers out of a field of 87 will join about 75 pros and six amateurs who were exempt from qualifying in medal play tomorrow.

SPORTS

Both Southpaws—

Harve Haddix, Curt Simmons 'Have a Ball' With Phillies

By ED WILKS

The Associated Press

Harve Haddix, the guy St. Louis "couldn't use," and Curt Simmons, a springtime bust, are having themselves a ball these days even though the Philadelphia Phillies can't seem to make the unexpected boost pay off.

The two southpaws each gained their seventh straight victories with a pair of six-hitters last night as the fifth-place Phils swept a twilight double-header with the still plugging Pittsburgh Pirates 3-0 and 11-2.

The sweep gave the Phillies a solid 636 winning percentage since the All-Star Game, yet they've been able to move up just one spot in that fast-stepping National League pennant race and still trail the leaders by 12 games.

Philadelphia managed to pick up just half a game on fourth-place St. Louis as the Cardinals rocked Milwaukee 6-2 and prevented the first-place Braves from padding their two-game lead over Brooklyn, beaten 3-1 by New York's reluctant Giants.

Third-place Cincinnati moved back to within three games of the lead by defeating the Chicago Cubs 2-0.

In the American League,

Mickey Mantle socked away his 42nd home run, staying 13 games ahead of Babe Ruth's record-60 pace in 1927, as the New York Yankees whacked Boston 12-2 and ballooned their lead to 9½ games after Detroit knocked off Cleveland 6-4 in 15 innings. The Chicago White Sox hammered Kansas City 12-1. Baltimore defeated Washington 3-0.

Haddix, 30, whom the Cardinals wrapped up with Stu Miller and Ben Flowers in a May swap for Murry Dickson and Herm Wehmeier, shut out the Pirates in the opener on five singles and a double by loser Bob Friend.

In the nightcap, Simmons hung up his seventh straight complete game in his "comeback" from springtime sore-arm miseries, and breezed in as the Phils jumped Red Munger in an eight-run second inning.

Rocky Nelson, who returned to the Cardinals when the Dodgers gave up on him, socked a two-run pinch homer to beat the Braves and Bob Buhl. The homer gave St. Louis a 3-2 edge in the sixth and Dickson took it from there, scattering nine hits for a 9-9 record.

Willie Mays' 20th home run beat the Dodgers, coming with a man on to cap a three-run eighth. Jim Hearn won it, with Marv Grissom mopping up, after the Dodgers had broken up his shutout duel with Sal Maglie in the seventh.

Wally Post's 22nd homer gave the Redlegs a 1-0 lead against bonus boy Don Kaiser and the Cubs then chipped in an unearned marker toward Joe Nuxhall's five-hit shutout.

Mantle's homer came with a man on off Mel Parnell in a three-run third that iced it for Johnny Kucks' 16th victory. Billy Martin, with a home run, double and infield grounder, drove in four runs. Billy Klaus and Jackie Jensen homered for the Red Sox.

Wayne Belardi and Ray Boone homered in the 15th for the Tigers off reliever Don Mossi, who with starter Early Wynn had retired 28 in a row over one stretch. Al Smith's homer with two on tied it at 3-all for the Tribe in the eighth. Gene Woodling socked a solo shot in the 15th off winning reliever Jim Bunning.

Larry Doby, with four RBI, and winner Jack Harshman each slugged two-run homers for the White Sox. Harshman gave the A's just four hits.

Connie Johnson set down the Senators on six singles and struck out 11. Two of the Oriole runs were unearned.

The series opens tonight with the first game at Brookfield; the two teams will move to Sedalia Thursday night for the second tilt on the Liberty Park diamond; third game returns to Brookfield Friday night; fourth game (if necessary) will be here Saturday night; and the fifth (if necessary) will be at Brookfield on Sunday. All games begin at 8 p.m.

Probable pitchers to begin the series will be Clyde Kubiak, Sedalia's lanky fireballer, and Brookfield's strikeout king, Jerry Cleveland.

New Group Wins Russian Track, Field Events

MOSCOW (AP) — Russia's track field team for the Olympic games in Australia may not be as good as the Soviets expected, but it will be young, new and brash.

An almost completely new group of men and women won championships during the Soviet Spartakiad Sports Festival and victory here is virtually certain to get the winners a ride to Melbourne and a chance to take a crack at the powerful American squad.

The new champions are replacements for many old Russian stars who first got a good peek outside the Iron Curtain in 1950 at Brussels for the European Games, took another quick and unsuccessful look into the fresh air in 1952 for the Olympics, and made their their mass journey to Bern, Switzerland, in 1954 for the victorious European Games.

Since then they have journeyed to London, Paris, and Scandinavia in addition to numerous trips through satellite countries.

Now a new crew is taking over and its assignment is to beat the Americans. But it is most unlikely they will do this for another eight years, not until Russia's tremendously impressive sports mill turns out more good coaches.

This group, however, is certain to win at least two gold medals at Melbourne.

Morse Defies GOP in Speech At Convention

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon headed West today to try to make good his prediction that what he called a White House effort to purge him from the Senate would "fall flat on its face."

Breathing defiance at the Republican party he left in 1952, Morse last night made his debut before the Democratic National Convention with a speech that was a big success.

A standard-waving demonstration led by Oregon delegates welcomed him to the hall where four years ago he cheered President Eisenhower. His biggest ovation came when he declared he had "no regrets" over leaving the Republican party.

Morse broke with Eisenhower during the 1952 election campaign. After a period as an independent, he joined the Democrats when they took control of the Senate in 1955.

"It has made me the target of a White House purge," he told the convention.

"However, I want to let the White House in on a political secret — the purge attempt is going to fall flat on its face."

He said Oregon voters "have no intention of letting the White House handpick their senator for them."

Morse's Senate seat is being contested by Douglas McKay, who resigned as Eisenhower's secretary of the interior to make the race against him.

Afterwards, Morse told Oregon delegates at a midnight get-together that he had been "deeply moved" by the demonstration accorded him at the convention.

"I am proud to be a Democrat," he said.

Opening of Oven Door Sets Off Explosion In Crowded Utah Cafe

MONTICELLO, Utah (AP) — A cook opened an oven door — and the burst of heat touched off an explosion that killed 15 persons in a crowded cafe.

State experts said this was the immediate cause of the blast Monday night.

They agreed with local officials that it was obviously a gas explosion. But they said a "very, very careful and deliberate" investigation still has left them without enough evidence to decide whether it was an explosion of natural gas or manufactured gas.

They said the investigation will continue.

The blast at the peak of the dinner rush demolished the brick and cinderblock building housing the Lariat Cafe, leaving nothing but a mess of splintered debris.

Less than 12 hours earlier, the cafe had switched from manufactured gas to this southeastern Utah cattle and uranium town's new natural gas system. The old manufactured gas pipes were still in the basement.

Wilson Says US Could Inflict Terrible Defeat

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson said today he was confident the United States has "the weapons and the military power to inflict a disastrous defeat on any enemy."

Wilson said, however, in a speech prepared for delivery that military men have differences of opinion on how to keep U. S. defenses secure.

He spoke before the 57th Encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Last night he stood in the reviewing stand as the VFW parade glittered and blared its way through Dallas. Police estimated that 100,000 persons watched the spectacle.

Some 10,000 persons took part. Bands, drill teams and high stepping majorettes strutted down the streets while a four-plane flight of F80 Shooting Star jets streaked overhead. Close behind came a flight of giant B47 and B36 bombers.

Wilson said he felt that a sound defense required a proper balance.

"You can't depend on any one weapon or any one service alone," he told the veterans.

"Our planning must be designed to meet our requirements. New weapons, new equipment, new situations have required a complete review of our military posture. This in essence has been called the 'new look' in military affairs," he said.

Margaret Will Tour City While Husband Covers GOP Meeting

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Margaret Truman Daniel says she'll boycott the Republican National Convention while her husband Clifton covers the GOP conclave for the New York Times next week.

The Daniels arrived yesterday. "I'm not going to sit in an old convention hall when I can explore this city," said Margaret. "San Francisco is a beautiful city and this time I'm going to do nothing but enjoy it. For one thing, I'm going to ride a cable car."

Martha Raye Recovers From Sleeping Pills

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Bold, brassy Martha Raye is recovering after a bout with too many sleeping pills.

The 39-year-old actress and comedienne, unconscious when found on her bedroom floor, was described by hospital attendants as "awake and feeling fine."

Her physician, Dr. Ralph Robbins, said she must have taken about 20 pills. Robbins placed her in the hospital for treatment, including a spell under an oxygen tent. The doctor said he had no idea why she had taken the pills.

Miss Raye came to Florida in an unsuccessful attempt to divorce her fifth husband, dancer Ed Begley. A Miami circuit judge denied the decree, however, ruling that Miss Raye had not met the 90-day residence requirement.

Famous Flier Dies In Automobile Crash

MILDENHALL, England (AP) — An auto crash last night killed Col. David C. Schilling, 37, one of America's most decorated fliers. Schilling became a top U.S. Air Force ace in World War II by shooting down 23 German planes in combat and destroying 10 others on the ground. He won the Harmon International Air Trophy in 1951 as the year's outstanding flier.

His car apparently went into a skid and hurtled into a bridge three miles south of the big U.S. Air Force base here. The car broke in two. Police said Schilling was thrown from the vehicle and died at once.

Estimate 15 Million Chinese in Slavery

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Information Agency published an estimate that about 15 million Chinese have been forced into slave labor during the six years of Communist rule in China.

The estimate was made by Dr. Karl A. Wittfogel, professor of Chinese history at the University of Washington in Seattle. A report on his study of the conditions in China was published in USIA's periodical "Problems of Communism."

Harriman Has Nothing To Lose Now

CHICAGO (AP) — Strategists for Averell Harriman contended today he had everything to gain and nothing to lose in his bid for the Democratic presidential nomination if the civil rights issue goes to the convention floor.

They saw it as a possible stumbling block for Adlai Stevenson, the front-running contender and Harriman's man-to-beat.

Their argument runs this way: Stevenson stands to lose hope of substantial Southern support if he holds to a strong platform plank on civil rights, and to weaken his backing in the North if he should move to appease Southerners calling for a watered-down civil rights plank.

Harriman long has advocated a strong civil rights plank and has never counted on any substantial Southern support.

Thus, the Harriman camp would hope to make gains among strong plank backers in the North simply by maintaining his position. A spokesman indicated strongly Harriman might stir up a civil rights floor fight.

Newsman sent a question to Harriman's office yesterday: Would he support a convention floor fight if the plank offered to the delegates did not mention the Supreme Court decisions barring

Woman Adopts 11

CHICAGO (AP)—Mrs. Elizabeth J. Duhig, 32, who last February married policeman Martin Duhig, father of 11 children, has become the mother of the children by adoption.

The children are of Duhig's first marriage to Mrs. June Duhig, who died 14 months ago. Mrs. Elizabeth Duhig's first husband, George Caley, died in 1953. They had no children.

The whole family was present in Cook County Court when Judge Otto Kerner approved Mrs. Duhig's petition to be declared the legal mother.

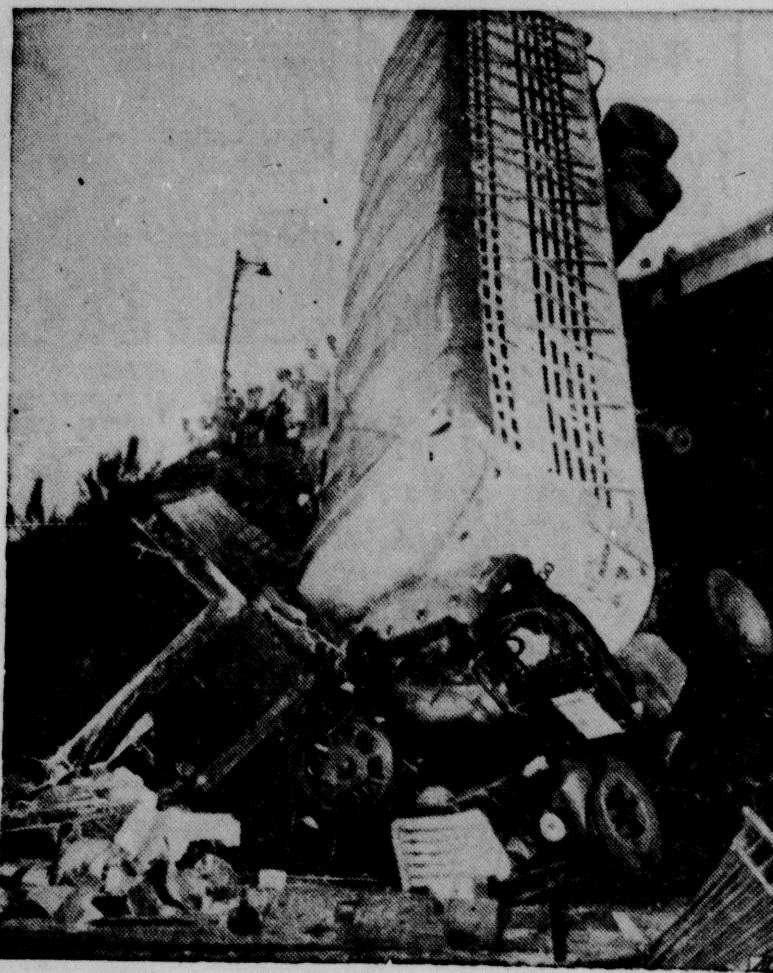

"I love them all," Mrs. Duhig said. "For the last couple of months I've been thinking I might as well be their legal mother. The younger ones occasionally asked if I were their real mother."

Charles Van Devander, the governor's press secretary, said he did not like the question's reference to a fight, but issued this reply on behalf of Harriman:

"The governor has made it plain on civil rights must recognize the Supreme Court decisions in this field and take notice of them in the plank."

"If the platform brought in does not mention the Supreme Court decisions, he would support a move to put them in, and so presumably would Stevenson in view of a statement he made last week."

Canadian Parliament Adjourns Tuesday

OTTAWA (AP) — Canada's 22nd Parliament adjourned last night after putting its okay on the government's $4,700,000,000 spending program for the 1956-57 year. It was one of Parliament's longest sessions. The House of Commons put in 152 working days, three short of the 155-day record in 1903.

Political Enemies Begin Office Terms

SEOUL (AP)—Bitter political enemies took office today as president and vice president of South Korea. Syngman Rhee began his third term as chief executive and Chang Myun was sworn in as his potential successor.

Chang, 56, in a blistering statement handed to newsmen after the inauguration, assailed Rhee's previous governments for "violations of the constitution, prevailing corruption and disregard of national and human rights."

The 81-year-old president in his inaugural address said democracy had made "truly remarkable" progress in South Korea, and the nation's economic prospects had "greatly improved" during his eight years in office.
